

“A VOYAGE IN A HOT AIR BALLOON”

I wanted to go on a trip all over the world, so one day I decided to travel in a hot air balloon. I went with my best friend, Charles. We were very enthusiastic about it. We were ready to have a great experience. Our voyage started on December 3rd. Everything was fine... but then something extremely sad happened.

The view from the balloon was very beautiful and you could see the sea and the mountains. We could see tiny animals, but they seemed to be so little because we were very high. Our first destination was South Africa. It was fascinating. We went down the hot air balloon to have more fun. We tied it up first. Then, we started to walk further so we could see the animals. Suddenly, Charles disappeared. “Charles, where are you?” I shouted. There was no answer. I continued shouting but he did not answer. It was a big mystery that I was supposed to solve. I really did not know what to do.

I kept looking for him for two days and I could not continue my trip. Then I realized that I had to go because there were wild animals. I was very worried and sad. It was impossible to find him. So I made a decision: I left. It was the worst trip ever, but only because of this tragedy. I have decided to continue travelling, but if I travel with a friend, I will be more careful!
