

Let's protect and respect animals!

Splash! Cami jumped to the water and she swam. She lived in Miami Beach, in the Ocean, The sea had a lot of colourful seaweeds and in the shore, there was seafoam. There was a beautiful breeze. The sea was very deep and also, it had a coral reef. There were a lot of animals such as purple snails, dolphins, moon jellyfish, sharks and whales. It was 2018 and it was Summer.

Cami was a beautiful mermaid with shiny eyes like the stars, tall as a giraffe, with skin as pale as a vampire. She had a round face as round as a ball. She was thin and she had brown straight hair; a long shiny tail and sticky webbings. The mermaid had a lot of scales in her tail and she was very young. But, she wasn't very kind and generous.

Her best friend was a loyal dolphin called Delfina. She had blue eyes that shone like glitters. Cami loved her dolphin but she hated other animals because they were cruel and mean.

One day, she saw humans at the shore and they were fishing. They were killing them. First, she didn't care but then, she thought for a moment.

She remembered that Delfina told her why other animals were killing their kind. It was because they didn't have food. But really they didn't like it but they needed to do to survive. She also remembered that she didn't listen to her friend. But now she realized she was wrong. Humans had to respect them and she wanted to help them but she didn't know how.

The mermaid wanted to talk with someone but if humans caught her, they were going to kill her. Then, she heard a CHUNCH. They were eating fish. They were as bad as King Kong. She had to do something, Cami went to the shore and she saw a boy. His name was Tomy. He was a young boy with blue eyes and blond hair. He was kind, helpful, responsible and generous. She thought that he was a good boy so she talked to him. She told him that she was desperate because humans were killing animals, but then he told her that some people were protecting animals like him. So, the mermaid asked him if he could help her take all the people to the shore to teach them to be respectful. Tomy liked the idea.

The next day, when Cami was waiting in the shore, she saw a lot of people coming. Cami and Tomy spoke to them and then Cami said a beautiful phrase:

"DO ONTO OTHERS AS YOU WOULD WANT THEM TO DO ONTO YOU"

They heard a lot of CLAPS. The people were clapping at them. Cami felt very happy.

The next day, there weren't humans killing animals, they were building a whale sanctuary. Cami was really happy and she thanked Tomy. He was her new friend. And all the people respected animals as they wanted to be treated.